

Your correspondent has been a guest throughout the years at the 4-H Clubs Achievement Banquet held here every November for outstanding farm boys and girls of Hempstead county.

It's always a good meeting, but the sixth annual banquet Thursday night was an especially fine show. Rufus Little, a Forrest City (Ark.) farm boy, told the local youngsters about his four-and-a-half months visit in Scotland last summer as an international Farm Youth Exchange delegate.

He backed his story with a handful of facts and figures on the United Kingdom's agriculture, ending with some fine color photographs which he made himself.

Little said at the very end: "You ought to be proud just to be Americans. You don't know how lucky you are—until you see how the rest of the world has to make do with so very little."

L. C. Baber, Little Rock, managing director of the Arkansas Chain Store Council, paid tribute to the Hope Chain Store Group and President A. E. Stonequist by saying that the interconnected-store-system's sponsorship of annual banquets throughout the state gets its greatest response here.

That, of course, is due partly to the energy and competition of southwest Arkansas' 4-H club boys and girls, and partly to the fine organization work of County Agent Oliver L. Adams and Home Demonstration Agent Lorraine Blackwood. But credit also is due to the chain-store men themselves for having the vision to underwrite this annual affair, which does as much as anything I know of to educate townpeople on farm accomplishments and cement a solid front of all our people for the best interests of our section of America.

Planes Trying to Avert Flood of Po River

Rovigo, Italy, Nov. 16 (AP)—Planes were ordered out in poor soup fog today to drop bombs along the raging Po river in an effort to divert flood waters menacing Rovigo and Adria.

Helicopters were pressed into service to rescue terrorized and isolated flood victims in northern Italy, where at least 80 persons have perished in the past week. Property damage runs into the millions. Hundreds of thousands of acres of the fertile Po valley are under water, damaging crops.

Authorities hope the bombs will breach the banks of the canal bianco—the white canal—near Arqua and send the surging Po waters into a less thickly populated region. Arqua is about 10 miles southwest of Rovigo. The canal was flooded by the swollen Po.

Technical units from the British and American armed forces in Trieste were speeding to stricken Regio province.

Throughout the province, refugees were fleeing to higher ground. Provincial officials called on all truck and car owners for help. Helicopters and army planes dropped food and rubber rafts to villages isolated by the flood.

More than 5,000 refugees were reported swarming into Rovigo last night. They came from all parts of the province, in which some 170,000 acres are under water.

In nearby Mantova and Ferrara provinces, the flood waters were said to be receding. Hundreds of refugees from that area were reported pouring into Padua and Verona, however.

There was no immediate estimate of the damage in Rovigo province. One provincial legislator told parliament in Rome that some 30,000 head of cattle may have perished. The acreage under water includes corn, hemp and wheat fields.

Fourteen soldiers were injured last night—four of them seriously—when their truck overturned on the Padua-Rovigo highway. They were en route to Rovigo to aid in the rescue work.

Dixie Downs, Inc. Gets Nod From Race Commission

Little Rock, Nov. 16 (AP)—Dixie Downs, Inc., hit the stretch yesterday in its long race for a horse track in West Memphis, Ark., when the state racing commission approved its application for a franchise.

Governor McMath, who opposed the new track—promptly announced that he would demand the resignations of all commission members. Later, however, he said he would re-appoint commission Chairman Van Luyk of Hot Springs to head a "reformed commission."

The commission action was a reversal of a decision it made on opening day of the racing season at Oaklawn park in Hot Springs last spring. At that hearing, the governor appeared as the principal opposition witness; the commission rejected the petition.

One string was attached to the commission's approval of the new track. It must be approved by the voters of Crittenden county in a local option election—a condition which track sponsors had agreed to prior to the hearing.

The commission's action was unanimous on an 8-0 vote. Two members, Harry Parkin of Little Rock and Joe Steele of Springdale, voted by proxy, and Chairman Luyk abstained.

Although Dean Morley, state representative, said the state would continue on Page Two

American History Has Known No Parallel to Cold-Blooded Massacre of 5,500 Prisoners

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—There is no parallel in American history to the cold-blooded massacre of some 5,500 U. S. prisoners of war by the Communists in Korea.

It is by far the greatest atrocity committed against our nation since its founding.

It negates the principles upon which our republic is built—the value of the individual and human rights.

In the seven-year struggle to achieve American independence the U. S. Army estimates "at least 4,041 American soldiers were killed" in battle.

Yet in less than a year-and-a-half of the "police action" in Korea the enemy has murdered in cold blood more than 5,500 captured and defenseless American troops. They have murdered more Americans than died to make us a free people.

The figure is almost too shocking to comprehend. For these outright murders of our men are only a small fraction of our total Korean casualties—now at the 100,000 mark.

And the number of our men are only a small fraction of the murders committed by the Reds among captured South Korean troops and the South Korean civilian population.

But the number of disarmed Americans they have brutally shut down or clubbed to death makes the Custer massacre of the Indian wars or the Malmedy massacre of the last world war look like misdeeds.

These endless, fruitless and senseless slayings by the Chinese and North Korean Reds must put before civilized mankind again the oldest question—does human life hold any dignity, or must peoples

Overparking Fines Raised to Fifty Cents

Effective Monday, November 19, the first penalty for overtime parking will be increased from 5c to 50c. The Council recently passed a resolution putting this change into effect upon the recommendation of the Police Department.

The original 5c fine was used temporarily until the public could become acquainted with the meter operation and since the meters have now been in operation for approximately one year the Council felt the change should be made in order to bring about better enforcement.

Bobcat Killed in Ozan Bottoms

A 20-pound Bobcat was killed yesterday in the Ozan Creek Bottoms by a couple of hunters, Lloyd Braden of Hope and Gerald Webb of Nashville. Dogs treed the cat and Braden shot it.

Little Damage in Flooring Mill Fire

A dry kiln fire at the Hope Flooring Mill resulted in little damage this morning, the Hope Fire Department reported. Several pieces of lumber were damaged.

Duck Calling Contest to Be Held Here

The first annual Duck Calling Contest will be held in Hope next Tuesday at 2 p. m. Duck callers from all over southwest Arkansas are invited to participate in the contest.

Callers will be divided into four groups: sportsmen, professional guides, women, and children under 15. Prizes will be awarded in each division. In the sportsmen and professional guide divisions, $25 cash prizes will be awarded to the winner of each group. Hunting supplies will be awarded winners in the women and children's divisions.

A platform will be erected on second street between Elm and Main. The contest will take place on the platform with a sound system for distribution to the crowd.

Dorsey McCrae, Registration Chairman, urges all duck hunters and guides to enter the event to insure its success. Anyone desiring to enter the contest may register with Dorsey McCrae or at the Hope Chamber of Commerce Office. There is no fee for registration and everyone is eligible to participate regardless of where they reside. You may register in person or by telephone.

This is the first event of its kind ever to be held in this section of the state and promises a unique and entertaining affair.

The contest was formerly scheduled to be held next Wednesday, but due to the proximity to the opening of the Duck season, the committee decided to change the date to Tuesday, Nov. 20.

Slashes Russian Flag, Arrested

Englewood, Colo., Nov. 16 (AP)—Rev. Kenneth Goff, Englewood Baptist minister, was arrested on charges stemming from the slashing of the Russian flag in a United Nations day Oct. 24.

Arapahoe County Sheriff Charles Foster arrested Goff in the Denver suburb and he was taken to the Denver police station to be booked on charges of malicious mischief and disturbance yesterday. The minister was released on $500 bond.

The Russian flag was slashed and torn while on display in the Denver civic center.

Goss said he would press legal action against E. V. Dunklee, president of the United Nations committee for Colorado and civic officials. He contended the flag was displayed against an 1897 Colorado statute banning display of "Red" flags. Dunklee contended the law was aimed at display of Red flags of anarchy.

Similar charges against Goff and his wife were dismissed last month by Municipal Judge Frank E. Hickley on the ground that a summons was improperly served. Goff will face the same judge Nov. 21.

Goff blasted the flying of the Soviet flag as a "slap in the face of every boy fighting in Korea."

Bible Class Changes Meeting Day

The Bible Study Class of the First Presbyterian Church will hold its regular meeting Tuesday at 10 a. m. instead of Thursday. This change is made because Thanksgiving falls on Thursday.

Two More Youths Seized With Stolen Truck Here

Another stolen vehicle, this time a pickup truck, was recovered here yesterday and two youths were arrested by city and state officers.

The truck was stolen earlier in the day at Marshall, Texas by Donald W. Koppie, 18, Tolu, Mo., and a 12-year-old Marshall, Texas lad who was on probation from the reform school where he was sent for stealing a bicycle.

Broke and out of gas, the boys stopped the truck at Fulton. The kid and hitchhiked into Hope. The youth was picked up at Fulton by State Officer Guy Downing and the 12-year old was arrested by local officers Pedron and Mosier.

Both blamed the other with the theft and both were released to the Marshall, Texas sheriff last night.

Polar Bear Reported Killed

Little Rock, Nov. 16 (AP)—"Whitely," the polar bear which escaped from an overturned circus van into the wilds of western Arkansas, is dead, says the Arkansas Gazette. The newspaper adds that most everybody in Mt. Ida not only knows it, but knows who's responsible.

A farmer who lives near Oden, about 12 miles west of Mt. Ida, shot the 900-pound white bear last Thursday night. He won't admit it, but just about everybody in Mt. Ida knows it's so," the Gazette said.

The newspaper said the farmer, carved the bear into steaks and gave the meat to neighbors. Nobody ate the meat, says the newspaper, because those who tried to fry the steaks had to air out their homes.

The Gazette said the farmer who killed the bear has nothing to fear from officials, as do the unlucky deer hunters who shot down "Mabel," a tame black bear who escaped with "Whitely."

Arkansas law prohibits the killing of bears, but makes no mention of polar bears.

If "Whitely" is dead, that marks the end of Arkansas' big game hunt. He was the next to last fugitive from the wrecked van. Two leopards were slain and one black bear and several monkeys were recaptured. One monkey is missing, but is presumed to be dead.

4-H Clubbers Hear Report on Scotland

Farm boys and girls of Hempstead county were guests of the Arkansas Chain Store Council and the Hope Chain Group at the sixth annual 4-H Club Achievement Banquet Thursday night in Hotel Barlowe.

The guest speaker was also a farm boy, Rufus Little of Forrest City, Ark., who spent four and a half months this past summer in Scotland as an international Farm Youth Exchange delegate from America.

Little proved to be a gifted and entertaining speech-maker, holding the local boys and girls and their adult hosts all the way through a detailed account of life and agriculture in the British Isles. He was the house guest of several Scottish homes throughout the summer, and toward the end of the season visited London and Paris.

Little concluded with a picture show of Kodachrome slides on a screen, depicting the grandeur and color of the Scottish countryside.

Local Chain Group

Official host of the evening was A. E. Stonequist, president of the Chain Store Group; with L. C. Baber of Little Rock, managing director of the Arkansas Chain Store Council, also present. Chain store representatives present were: Mr. Stonequist of J. C. Penney Company; Fred Robertson of Replian Department stores, Milton, Dillard of Scott stores, A. B. Toldt of West Brothers Department store, and A. E. Evans and Harold R. Koley of Kroger company.

Oliver L. Adams, Hempstead county farm agent, and Mrs. Lorraine Blackwood, demonstration agent, represented the State Extension service. A. H. Washburn, editor, was an annual guest from The Star.

Master of ceremonies was the Hempstead county champion 4-H club boy, Richard Lynn Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hunt, Hope Route One. Seated with him at the champion 4-H club girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Kent, Putnam Route One.

Another distinguished 4-H clubber was present, Donald Ray Brown, dairy judging winner at Little Rock, who will be one of three representing Arkansas at the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago this month. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Brown of Hope Route One.

J. B. Ellen III, of Hope Route One, put on a one-man D. R. show. Prize for a successful answer was a package of bubble gum. But he stumped 'em lots of times. Example: "Why is a bridge like a dollar bill?" Nobody knew. Answer: "Because it goes from bank to bank."

Travis England, Hope Route Two also spoke; and many special awards were distributed during the meeting for individual 4-H member accomplishments during the year.

Squirrels Placed In Fair Park, Public Cooperation Asked

Six grey squirrels arrived here today from the Little Rock park and will be turned loose in Fair park.

The project is an undertaking of Chief of Police Clarence Baker and Fire Chief Pap Willis. They have placed 13 houses in trees at the park for the squirrels and the big problem now is food. There seems to be a shortage of nuts around town.

The squirrels will be kept up about 10-days to get them used to the Park. Then they will be turned loose.

If anyone has pecans or hickory nuts they would be welcomed at the Fire or Police station. Regular feeding will keep the squirrels inside the park, and the two chiefs plan to do this until their new homes are thoroughly established.

A plea was also made for the public cooperation in helping protect the squirrels. Anyone discovered killing one will be prosecuted.

Murdered U. S. Prisoners Now Total 6,270

Pusan, Korea, Nov. 16 (UP)—The 8th Army's chief war crimes investigator boosted today his total figure of American war prisoners murdered by the Communists in Korea to 6,270.

Col. James M. Hanley disclosed the new figure in an exclusive interview just before two high U. S. officers arrived in Pusan and began questioning him about his unexpected disclosure of the fled atrocities.

Col. George Patrick Welch, public information officer for Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, and Col. Kenneth L. Booth, public information officer for the 8th Army, talked with Hanley in his Pusan office for several hours.

Afterwards, Welch would say only: "I came over here to discuss the matter with Colonel Hanley. But the conference was informal."

Hanley's new statement put the total number of U. N. war prisoners slaughtered by the Communists since the outbreak of the Korean war June 25, 1950, at 13,400. Of the total, he said, 7,000 were South Koreans.

Far from retracting his disputed earlier statement that the Chinese alone had killed 2,513 American prisoners, he reported it and enlarged his report to include 3,767 Americans slain by North Korean troops.

Hanley said information gathered by 8th Army investigators, survivors of executions, South Korean police and other sources showed these "maximum" numbers of Americans to have been murdered:

By the Chinese since they entered the war — 2,513

In November 1950

By the North Koreans since November 1950—

By the North Koreans before November 1950 — 3,610

Total Americans slain — 6,270

Ralph Rothman Arrives Here to Succeed Eddie Holland as Local Theater Manager

Ralph Rothman, well known Malco Theatres, Inc., showman, arrived in Hope last night from Russellville, Ark., to succeed Eddie Holland as local theater manager for the 60-theater system.

Mr. Rothman was accompanied by Mrs. Rothman and their son Michael. The family are Hot Springs natives. Mr. Rothman broke into the theater business there as an assistant manager, later was promoted by Malco, was in the armed forces during the war, and for the last two years has been manager of the Elitz theater in Russellville.

His promotion to the Hope office as a manager of the Seagram and Rialto theater, was due to the fact that Eddie Holland, his predecessor both at Russellville and Hope, has just been promoted to city manager in Malco's home office town, North Little Rock.

Mr. Holland leaves Hope after two years' service here to manage North Little Rock's Rialto, Princess and Park theaters. Mrs. Holland and their daughter Sheila will accompany him. The Hollands are natives of Camden.

Meet Called to Discuss Power Plant Problems

Mayor Lyle Brown today called a meeting for Monday at the City Hall to discuss problems facing the Municipal Water and Light Plant. The public is invited to take part in this discussion.

The Mayor issued the following statement:

"For the past several months the Municipal Light Plant has been facing a possible, but not probable, shortage of power and unless additional power is acquired it is very definite that there will be an actual shortage within the next few years. Because of the difficulty in obtaining needed materials it is necessary to begin planning now for the acquisition of more power."

"At the present time there are only two sources of power. One method is to enlarge the present operating facilities at the plant. Another method is to arrange with some private utility company to purchase a stand-by power."

"On next Monday night, November 19, at the City Hall there will be a meeting of the present Council and the mayor-elect and new Council members who will take office January 1. This meeting will be open to the public and every interested citizen is urged to attend. At that time a representative of the power company will submit a proposal to furnish the City with stand-by power. Also a representative of a reputable engineering firm which lately made a survey for the City, will be present for the purpose of answering any questions relative to the proposal to enlarge the generating facilities at the plant."

"The present City administration, as well as the incoming administration, is anxious that the people take advantage of this opportunity to hear the merits of the two plans discussed and to express their opinions. This will better enable the City officials to come to a decision on this important question which will be in line with the thinking of the majority of the people."

Mr. McFarlane sang in the Ensemble and Glee Clubs of High School. Gunmen Kill Hotel Clerk

St. Louis, Nov. 16 (AP)—A shot to death a hotel clerk, wounded two other persons, including a policeman, during a attempted holdups last night.

John Krejger, 33, hotel clerk, was killed when he was shot in the chest by a 27-year-old Negro, Crump, 37-year-old Negro operator, was shot in the arm, seriously wounded as he was being held for investigation.

About two hours later, Frederick Johnson, 30, a city patrolman, surprised the holdup by a liquor store, wounded in the nose.

Other officers, joining in the fight, captured two men, wounding one of them. They identified them as Dillard N. St. Louis, and Samuel N. St. Louis, Mo., and said they were being held for investigation.

He also said Chinese Communists have slain 180 U. S. war prisoners of other nations.

Hanley gave the interview while the high U. S. officers were en route by air to Pusan to confer with him over his unexpected release of the original atrocity report at a press conference Wednesday.

Midway postponed a promised "clarifying" statement on the atrocity pending further investigation. Both Tokyo and Washington were reported fearful of the repercussions of Hanley's release on the peace talks at Panmunjom and on parents of American soldiers missing in action in Korea.

Asked whether he was aware of the future resulting from his disclosure, Hanley said:

"I had, of course, authorization from superior officers to publish the records."

However, there appeared to be some question whether the disclosure Hanley says he received from the 8th Army as public information office was for release of the report to the press or for use in a speech before army officers.

Hanley said he had not been questioned officially since he released the statement.

In Tokyo, a spokesman at Ridgeley's headquarters said Hanley had not been repatriated, no action would be taken until all the facts had been received, he said.

Among other qualifications, men must have been in the service at least 18 and less than 31.

DOROTHY DIX

To Avoid Loneliness

Dear Miss Dix: What cure can you suggest for loneliness? I am separated from my husband, though he still supports me and our child and I am working harder, making a fairly decent living. I am considered good-looking and congenial at 35, but my trouble is I am very lonely.

My few friends have their own groups of married couples and when I am invited to their homes I am always the odd one. I want to meet nice people, under proper circumstances and through correct introduction. I don't like pick-ups. I have plenty of work to keep me busy, but all work and no play is getting me down.

Answer: The world is so full of lonely people like yourself, judging from the many letters on the subject that come to my desk, that I wish I could establish a central agency to get them all acquainted. Why doesn't a church or community club organize a group of lonely folks upward of 30? Such auspices would surely be proper enough to interest the most wary. Naturally the group would be small compared to the teen-age clubs, or parents' associations, but the need for them is great. With so many lonely people in the world, it seems tragically unnecessary for any of them to do without the companionship they crave.

Meet People Through Children. My correspondent has two sources of potential friends that should yield some fruit. Children usually provide a marvelous entry to new friends. In fact, it is through the youngsters that most mothers make friends, especially in a new community. Make it a point to meet the parents of your daughters' friends. True, they will be coupled with their own interests, but who knows? They in turn, may have some single friends.

A job too, offers lots of opportunities to meet people. Make the most of them.

The older one gets, the more difficult the art of making friends becomes; hence my oft-repeated suggestion to make friends while you are young and keep them!

Participation in community affairs, charity drives and the like provides a pleasant, helpful means of meeting one's fellow citizens. Try it.

Now for a word of warning. When a woman on the far side of 30 (or the near side, too for that matter), says she wants to make friends, she is usually suggesting, parenthetically, that what she really wants is a husband. So intent does she become on her purpose that the matrimonial gleam is discernible to any male. Nothing so frightens a man as a woman's determination to marry him, hence his flight before the introductions have been completed. A wise woman, therefore, will at least pretend that friendship and companionship are her primary objectives if she gets more — good luck!

Boileau, executive vice president of Dixie Downs, said "high class" facilities costing about $2.5 million would be constructed. He said that government priorities for materials had not been obtained, but that other properties owned by the firm could be dismantled.

Waller announced following the session that the firm would seek an election in Crittenden county as soon as possible. He said he hoped that the track would be open next year.

The commission said that if the voters reject the track, it will refuse to give it racing days. This, in effect, would prevent the track from operating.

In another action, the commission refused to withdraw a motion for removal of Eugene Bury as racing secretary at Oaklawn.

The commission had agreed that Bury remain for the 1951 season, but it refused to grant a renance a plant; the other poor character on the part of the applicants.

At the hearing, Ed Waller, secretary of Dixie Downs, listed all the concern's stockholders. They included several prominent East Arkansas residents. Other directors of the track are J. H. (Jim) Crain, J. F. Wheeler, Jack Rich, John A. Cooper, Robert J. Boileau, A. W. Dickey, J. C. McCaa, and B. G. Dickey.

CHAPTER TWENTY

NEXT morning, on his rounds, Mr. Yearby's special reported to Peter that her patient had had a quiet night.

At eight, the manager himself came up to surgical, making no pretense that this was one of his usual tours of inspection. With him was Dr. Silverstein, a Staff surgeon. The supervisor and Dr. Shepherd greeted this delegation; the surgical intern hovered near.

"May I have Mr. Yearby's chart?" asked Dr. Stoetzel. "It's in his room, sir. He's on special duty."

"I meant the ward report."

"Yes, sir." A nurse fetched this, and the supervisor passed it to Dr. Stoetzel. He studied it, took out his pen. "Dr. Silverstein is replacing Dr. Butcher on his case," he said mildly. Before anyone could catch his breath, he continued, "Come with us, please, Shepherd."

Peter saw Burke at the far end of the corridor. The medical resident's hands were folded in an attitude of prayer. Peter clenched his teeth; this was no time to laugh.

Mr. Yearby's eyes brightened at the flood of white linen which swept into his room. "This is more like it," he said happily. "Good morning, young man," he greeted Peter. "How are you this morning?"

Peter stood at the foot of his bed, smiling. "I'm fine, sir. May I present Dr. Stoetzel and Dr. Silverstein?"

"How are you, gentlemen?" chirped Mr. Yearby. "Won't you sit down?"

"We haven't time," said Dr. Stoetzel. "I'm the manager of the Boone Group Mr. Yearby, and—" "You got a good hospital here. Sleep like a top last night."

"That's true Mr. Yearby, yesterday we made some extensive tests, and—"

"Yes, sir! That young doctor there is thorough!"

"Er—yes. It's his business to be. A faint rim of ice cracked upon Dr. Stoetzel's voice. "Our tests showed Mr. Yearby, that a certain condition exists of which Dr. Butcher was not aware."

"Gee?" asked the old man warily, his voice quivering. "Oh, no, sir! And it probably isn't a new condition at all. Or have you known that you had diabetes?"

"Me?"

"Yes, sir. Did any doctor ever tell you that?"

"No, sir. They didn't. But I haven't had much truck with doctors. Last one was an insurance examination 15 years ago."

"No diabetes then?"

"Guess not. They let me take out another fifty thousand."

Dr. Silverstein laughed. "But doctor, Dr. Butcher—"

"Now, don't blame him, either. My wife called him Sunday for this little trouble I have..." His glance at the nurse showed his unwillingness to speak more frankly, and he said the only thing to do was to come in here and let him make me more comfortable. I asked him if it meant the knife, and he said not much of a knife. But there was to be a knife!"

"Er—yes," said Dr. Stoetzel. "Has Dr. Butcher been in this morning?" he asked the special.

"No, sir. He phoned and said he was tied up..."

"I see. I talked to him yesterday afternoon, Mr. Yearby. Now, of course, you may go to another hospital."

"You putting me out of here?" "No, sir. I'm offering you a choice. If you decide to stay here—"

"I'm comfortable."

"All right, then. We—Dr. Butcher and I—have come to the agreement that your case had better be turned over to Dr. Silverstein here. He is one of our Staff surgeons and will take good care of you."

"If I'm changin' doctors, I'd just as leave have the boy yonder."

Peter took a deep breath. "Oh, but, Mr. Yearby—"

"You're interested in me, and if you found out that I have diabetes and Butcher didn't know it, it stands to reason you're a better doctor."

"Dr—yes," said the manager. "And Dr. Shepherd will attend you, sir. But it is our practice to put a Staff surgeon in charge of a case, not a resident."

"If you have a personal preference in surgeons..." offered Dr. Silverstein.

"No, no, I got nothing against you. And if the boy says this is the way to do it, I'm agreeable."

He waited for Peter's nod of indorsement. So did Stoetzel and Silverstein, and Peter was most awfully glad that Burke was not in the room. He could not have gone through the rest of the ritual had he been present.

After another 15 minutes of more intimate attention to Mr. Yearby, who was in a more difficult situation than he seemed to realize, Dr. Silverstein and Dr. Shepherd joined the manager again in the hall. "I want a word with you, Shepherd," said Stoetzel, leading the way to a small waiting room, closing the door behind them.

"I suppose," he said after a moment of thought, "that you understand what we are doing, and have done, for Mr. Yearby. You can go on and follow routine procedure, with special attention to Dr. Silverstein's orders."

"Yes, sir. The palms of Peter's hands were wet."

"Yearby seems quite pleased with your care of him," said Silverstein.

"He's lonely—and old—and scared."

Heiress Tells of Gunbattle

Saratoga, Calif., Nov. 16 (AP)—A middle aged heiress is recovering today from bullet wounds suffered in a three-way gun fight which killed her son and brother. Officers said the battle erupted from a long simmering dispute over division of an $86,000 estate.

Police said Mrs. Mildred Andrews shot and killed her brother, William Stern, 57, after Stern fatally wounded her son, Gordon Topping, 28, in the family home here.

She told them: Her father, Harry R. Stern, a railroad representative, died last April and left an $86,000 estate for her to administer. Her brother, brooding over the will, fell to heavy drinking.

He came home drunk late Wednesday night and got a .22 rifle. He went to Topping's room, shouted for him to get out and began shooting. Topping fired back with a .32 automatic.

Mrs. Andrews rushed from her room and was hit in the side by one of her brother's bullets. As she fell, she fired twice with a .38 revolver, hitting Stern both times.

When sheriff's officers arrived in response to her labored telephone call, they found Stern dead and Topping dying.

BAPTISTS INCREASING
New Orleans, Nov. 14 (AP) — The President of the Southern Baptist convention says the denomination is growing faster percentage wise than other denominations in the South.
Dr. J. D. Grey, the Baptist generalist, told the 104th annual convention of the Louisiana Baptist convention here last night that since 1923 the denomination has shown a 67 per cent increase as compared with an average of 36 per cent for other denominations.

This Church Page Is Published Weekly With the Hope that More People Will Go to Church.

In every land and with every religion there is the giving of thanks to the Divine Giver. Here we see a man offering thanks to his God, with wife and children joining in the simple grace at meat. Better than public and community services is this genuine family Thanksgiving. For here is where children learn to relate the gifts of the every day to the Divine Love and Goodness which carries them through the days and the nights of the year. Let's join with the church folk in praise to God; let's join with the community in some form of Thanksgiving Festival; but let's not forget to do this genuine and proper act of praise in the home circle. Give thanks!

Children are awed by the great Festival. They are impressed with the public service of praise, as a pageant of worship and of dependence. But here at the home table they will learn to speak praise in their own language. Here they will form the habit of saying "Thanks" for the simple and everyday good things. Here is born that sense of reverence and of awe which is the very core of religion. Girls and boys who look thus to God daily and are glad for His goodness will not run the risk of being afraid of the Loving Kindness that blesses through the years. "O, come let us give thanks unto the Lord; for He is Good, and His mercy endureth forever." A-men.
